Request for Proposals ("RFP")
Consultant for Editorial Leadership Meeting

Deadline for response: 5:00 PM EDT, August 14, 2015

1. OVERVIEW

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting ("CPB") seeks a consultant ("Consultant") to facilitate a first-ever meeting of local/regional editorial leaders ("Editorial Leadership Meeting") to drive the momentum of collaboration to the next level: building a neural network of public media journalism. The Consultant must be a facilitator with significant experience facilitating large groups of 30 or more managerial-level participants with a wide range of differing views.

The meeting is tentatively scheduled for October 29-30, 2015. The Consultant will work closely with CPB and a small group of advisory editorial leaders selected by CPB to plan the agenda. CPB anticipates the meeting will include between 30 and 40 editorial leaders from CPB-funded Local Journalism Collaborations ("LJCs") and Regional Journalism Collaborations ("RJCs"), and key editors from flagship national public media news programs.

2. OBJECTIVES

The objectives for convening the Editorial Leadership Meeting are as follows:

   a. advance local/regional/national content sharing and co-production for higher impact;

   b. encourage sharing of best practices and lessons learned from journalism collaborations;

   c. accelerate the evolution of public media stations into multi-media news production operations; and

   d. foster discussion around public media’s editorial standards, ethics, and practices.

3. BACKGROUND

Over the past several years, one of CPB’s priorities has been to augment journalism quality and quantity in local public media. CPB continues to believe that supporting local journalism capacity strengthens the local-national partnerships developed through the LJCs and RJCs and enables public media to address the information needs of local communities and the entire country. Initial CPB support in this area has resulted in the Northwest News Network (N3), Project Argo, LJCs, RJCs, and various Education reporting initiatives. Several of these collaborations were profiled by the Pew Research Center’s Journalism Project.
4. PROJECT SCOPE

The facilitation process is expected to include, but is not limited to, the following:

a. Develop, in cooperation with CPB, the agenda for the Editorial Leadership Meeting and any necessary supporting materials;

b. assist CPB in planning discussions and meetings (via conference calls);

c. provide advice and suggestions for preparatory materials for the Editorial Leadership Meeting, to be distributed to attendees prior to the meeting;

d. identify speakers and/or moderators for the Editorial Leadership Meeting;

e. produce follow-up materials to provide to attendees after the Editorial Leadership Meeting concludes;

f. conduct a survey of attendees after the meeting to establish the value of the Editorial Leadership Meeting ("Survey"). The Survey will be developed with input from CPB and consist of approximately seven to 10 questions. The Survey will be conducted using Survey Monkey or another similar application. The results of the Survey must be presented in publishable form, as it may be distributed by CPB to the public media system; and

g. provide CPB with a short report detailing recommendations on how CPB could structure a second meeting.
